Sol y Canto

Rosi and Brian Amador founded the pan-Latin ensemble Sol y Canto in 1994, and before that were co-founders of Flor de Caña. They perform songs from the Nueva Canción tradition, creative arrangements of beloved Latin classics, and Brian's originals, which are distinguished by poetic lyrics, diverse styles and surprising twists. The Amadors can make you dance, laugh, cry and sigh all in one concert. facebook.com/SolyCanto solycanto.com

Pamela Jean Agaloos

Pamela Jean is an active musician in the Irish/Scottish trad scene in New York City. Born to Filipino parents in a U.S. Naval Base in Chicago, she has a background in musical theater in the Philippines, where she lived until 2011. She participates in folk sings like Exceedingly Good Song Night and the Sunnyside Singers Club, and is also a guest vocalist for the band New York Brogue. Although a frequent figure in the Manhattan trad scene, Pamela makes Iona Bar in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, her session home, which has hosted and attracted top-notch talent from the city and around the world.

Tonight's concert is co-sponsored by the Folk Music Society of New York.

Mike & Aleksi Glick

In another lifetime, singer/songwriter/satirist Mike Glick swapped first LPs with Lucinda Williams, and had Pete Seeger call him "one of the best songwriters going." Aleksi Glick is a world-class jazz and blues guitarist and composer as well. His first solo jazz guitar album is due out soon. Mike's CD, Alternative Facts & Other White Lies, was high on the Folk DJ charts six months straight (June–November 2020.) ### Pat Lamanna

Pat Lamanna is an award-winning singer-songwriter from Hyde Park, N.Y. Her songs have been praised highly by Pete Seeger, Peter Yarrow, David Roth, and others. They have a strong folk influence, and cover issues such as peace, religion and the environment, and many personal topics as well. She has three solo albums, and is a 2019 winner of the South Florida Folk Festival songwriting contest. ### Suzanne Schmid

Jamaican-born singer-songwriter Suzanne Schmid was raised in Albany, NY, and educated in Chapel Hill, NC. While Suzanne Vega, Natalie Merchant, Paul Simon, Ani DiFranco and Tracy Chapman formed the soundtrack of her teen and young adult years, her songwriting was also influenced by the North Carolina song-scape, especially old-time, bluegrass, and country music. Suzanne's solo release, The Field Hand, is a foray into folk, old-time, roots, reggae, and light rock. Together with Philadelphia indie-folk group Your Reckless Mind (Benjamin Le and Sam Leibowitz), Suzanne performs original songs, songs by favorite artists, and traditional songs learned along the way. ### Carrie & Michael Kline

Michael and Carrie Kline present their music both as entertainment and social history, with engaging ease and hard-hitting passion. They have spent years recording music and spoken narrative in Cherokee, North Carolina, the Appalachian coal-fields and mountainside farms, along with industrial cities from Cincinnati to New England. The Klines' high mountain harmony vocals meld with their intertwining bass lines on two guitars, with Michael Kline's melodic flat-picking guitar playing and Carrie's dynamic backup. As folklorist-musicians they weave songs and stories, wrapped in a patchwork quilt of vivid imagery. Their oral history and musical podcast is Talking Across the Lines.
